MAKE HOMEMADE MICKEY MOUSE EARS

Mickey Mouse ears are famous worldwide, and they are easy to make from coloring pages.

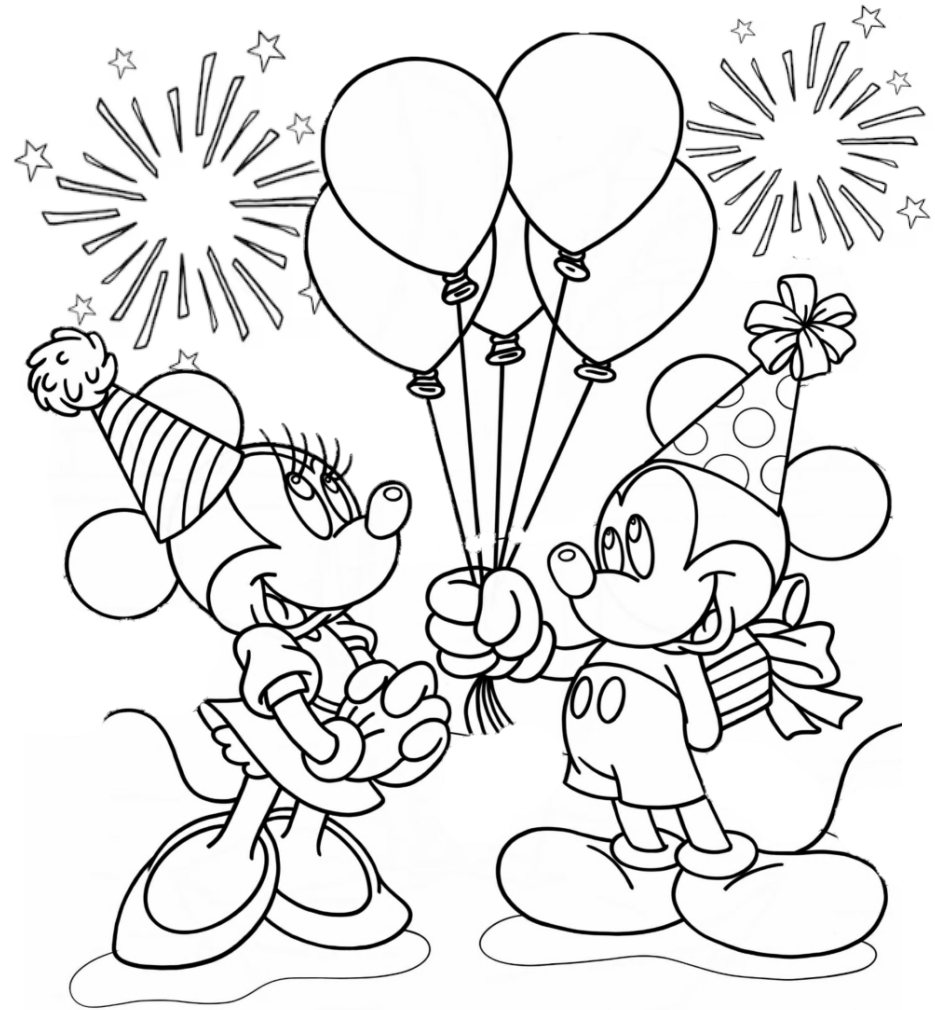

They can be created in any desired size and made to look real simply by coloring a pink circle surrounded by a black circle.

You can make a paper hat from newspaper and glue the Mickey Mouse ears on the front for an easy way to preserve them and wear them whenever the mood strikes!

IT HAS NEVER BEEN EASIER TO CELEBRATE FROM THE COMFORT OF YOUR HOME

Live streams of Independence Day celebrations are held across the nation. The annual "A Capitol Fourth" will stream festivities from Washington, D.C. Event will feature live performances from, among others, Chicago, Babyface and Belinda Carlisle — and will include what organizers call the "greatest display of fireworks in the nation," captured by 20 different camera views.

THE U.S. IS NOT THE ONLY COUNTRY
CELEBRATING FREEDOM ON JULY 4

It is also Liberation Day in Rwanda, and it's Republic Day in the Philippines. At least in the U.S., expect celebrants to consume somewhere in the realm of 150 million hot dogs on Independence Day this year.

THERE'S MUSIC TOO?

THERE IS AN ARGUMENT THAT INDEPENDENCE DAY SHOULD BE CELEBRATED ON JULY 2

The Continental Congress voted on independence on July 2, 1776, but it didn't approve the Declaration of Independence document until July 4, 1776.

Ask Founding Father John Adams: He argued the official holiday should be July 2.
